

TSA Awards Leidos Follow-On Hazmat Services Contract

October 25, 2022

RESTON, Va., Oct. 25, 2022 /PRNewswire/ -- Leidos (NYSE:LDOS), a FORTUNE® 500 science and technology leader, has been awarded a follow-on prime contract by the Transportation Security Administration (TSA) to continue providing hazardous materials (Hazmat) management and disposal services at more than 430 federalized airports. The single-award, firm fixed-price contract holds an approximate value of $55 million. It includes a nine-month base period of performance followed by four one-year option periods. Work will be performed in airports across the continental U.S., Alaska, Hawaii, and all U.S. territories.

"For more than 18 years, Leidos has supported the TSA in meeting the complex regulatory compliance requirements associated with the disposal of hazardous waste in all states and territories," said Eric Freeman, Leidos Senior Vice President and Integrated Missions Operation Manager. "We are proud to continue performing this important work while protecting our nation's transportation systems and the traveling public."

Under the contract, Leidos will provide regulatory support to ensure compliance with federal, state and local regulations associated with the onsite management, transportation, and disposition of hazardous materials and waste. This includes compliance assistance visits of airport operations, development of standard operating procedures, due diligence audits of treatment, storage and disposal facilities, management and operation of the Leidos-developed online documentation and recordkeeping system (HazOUT®), emergency and spill response support, and the development and execution of training programs.
