

Leidos Featured on Inaugural LinkedIn Top Attractors List

June 23, 2016

List honors the most sought-after employers for professionals

RESTON, Va., June 23, 2016 /PRNewswire/ -- Leidos (NYSE: LDOS), a national security, health, and infrastructure solutions company, today announced it was recognized by LinkedIn as one of the most sought-after companies where professionals want to work. The LinkedIn Top Attractors list ranks the best companies for attracting and keeping top talent.

The results were determined using LinkedIn data and an employer questionnaire. The Top Attractors list is the first ranking of its kind to be based entirely on actions of users. LinkedIn's insights team analyzed billions of actions taken by its 433+ million members to come up with a blended score that was used to rank the winners in each geography. Methodology leveraged actions including job applications, employee and non-employee engagement, and new hire staying power.

Leidos was ranked 36 on this inaugural list of top 40 companies. The honor highlights the company's dedication to developing an enriching and innovative environment where employees solve the toughest challenges facing our modern world. Leidos leadership inspires a culture of innovation across the company, with employees encouraged to grow their skills through Leidos' Massive Open Online Courses (MOOCs), build relationships through employee resource groups, and collaborate across verticals using the company's intranet.

"We perform meaningful and exciting work that is accomplished by the best and brightest minds," said Leidos Chairman and Chief Executive Officer Roger. "We're proud to be recognized on such a prestigious list that honors our talented employees and motivating company culture."
