

SAIC Unveils Free Investor Relations App

March 19, 2013

MCLEAN, Va., March 19, 2013 /PRNewswire/ -- Science Applications International Corporation (SAIC) (NYSE: SAI) today announced the launch of its investor relations app for iPad® devices. The SAIC Investor App is available free of charge at Apple's App Store(SM) for iPad.

The investor relations app enables users to access and search through the company's investor relations materials, including trading volume information and a persistent display of the streaming stock price, through a thoughtful interface with most features within thumb's reach. Additionally, the app provides instant access to interactive graphs, charts and data, and enables offline reading for much of the content.

"We recognize that mobile access to investor relations data is key to informing shareholders on pertinent company information," said Mark Sopp, SAIC executive vice president and chief financial officer. "The development of the SAIC Investor App is the next step in enhancing our investor communication and outreach."

In addition to the Apple App Store for iPad, the SAIC Investor App can be found at <http://www.saic.com/shareholder/app>.
