

Defense Logistics Agency (DLA) Honors SAIC for Valued Performance

September 16, 2010

Company Awarded DLA Business Alliance Award for Outstanding Readiness

MCLEAN, Va., Sept 16, 2010 /PRNewswire via COMTEX/ --

Science Applications International Corporation (SAIC) [NYSE: SAI] was honored by the Defense Logistics Agency (DLA) as one of the government's best suppliers during its Business Alliance Award ceremony Aug. 24.

The award was presented to SAIC for Outstanding Readiness Support during the agency's Enterprise Supplier Conference and Exhibition at the Greater Columbus Convention Center in Columbus, Ohio. Glenn San Giacomo, SAIC senior vice president and business unit general manager, accepted the award from DLA Director Navy Vice Adm. Alan Thompson.

"We are honored to receive this recognition from DLA for the outstanding readiness support that our dedicated employees have provided to the agency over the last three decades," said San Giacomo. "We look forward to continuing our support of DLA, working together to provide the critical products and services that America's military forces need to operate efficiently."

Overall, 22 industry partners were recognized during the ceremony in seven categories. Separately, SAIC was also recognized with a Bronze DLA Land and Maritime Recognition for Excellence Award, for superior quality and delivery performance on multiple logistics programs. For supply chain management services provided on DLA's Tires Privatization Initiative, SAIC was recognized for its contributions to the winning of a second Bronze award presented to prime contractor, Michelin North America.

As the Department of Defense's combat logistics support agency, DLA provides the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, other federal agencies, and joint and allied forces with a variety of logistics, acquisition and technical services.
