

Paul Bollinger Joins SAIC as VP, Strategic Energy Programs

May 5, 2009

--Bollinger to Develop Strategy and Support Customer Services for Major Energy Programs and Initiatives

SAN DIEGO and MCLEAN, Va., May 5, 2009 /PRNewswire-FirstCall via COMTEX News Network/ -- Science Applications International Corporation (NYSE: SAI) today announced that Paul Bollinger has joined SAIC as vice president for strategic energy programs.

"Paul will be a key resource in furthering our energy strategy and guiding program execution for SAIC's energy management and efficiency programs," said Joe Craver, president of the Infrastructure, Logistics and Product Solutions Group.

SAIC provides environmental, energy, and infrastructure design-build services to the Department of Defense, Department of Energy, Environmental Protection Agency and other federal and commercial customers nationwide and globally. In his new role, Bollinger will work closely with the business development team and energy business leaders to provide strategic guidance for developing solutions that meet the evolving needs of SAIC's customers in the energy market. He will also support broader efforts in the areas of logistics environment and security for federal government and commercial customers. Bollinger will report to J.T. Grumski, SAIC senior vice president and business unit general manager.

Prior to joining SAIC, Bollinger was the Army Deputy Assistant Secretary for Energy and Partnerships. He also served as the Senior Energy Executive with responsibility and oversight for the department's entire portfolio of energy initiatives and programs in-theatre and domestic, installations to vehicles. Bollinger previously served as Special Assistant to the Assistant Secretary of the Air Force for Installations, Environment and Logistics, responsible for the management of the alternative fuels program and the formation of the Alternative Fuels Certification Office.

Bollinger is a graduate of the University of Kentucky and earned a Bachelor of General Studies Degree in aviation and business. He earned a graduate certificate from George Washington University, and is a licensed U.S. Coast Guard Captain.

"Paul Bollinger has outstanding knowledge and experience managing energy initiatives and alternative fuel programs. He will be critical in helping SAIC develop and deliver comprehensive energy solutions to our customers," said Grumski.
