

John J. Hamre Elected to SAIC Board of Directors

July 8, 2005

(SAN DIEGO and MCLEAN, VA) - Science Applications International Corporation (SAIC) announced today that John J. Hamre, Ph.D., president and CEO of the Center for Strategic & International Studies (CSIS), was elected as a member of the SAIC Board of Directors at the company's June 2005 Annual Meeting. He will serve as a class III director, with his term ending in 2008.

Hamre was elected president and CEO of CSIS in January 2000. Before joining CSIS, he served as the 26th U.S. deputy secretary of defense. Prior to holding that post, he was the undersecretary of defense, serving as the agency's comptroller from 1993 to 1997. As comptroller, Hamre was the principal assistant to the secretary of defense for the preparation, presentation, and execution of the defense budget and management improvement programs.

Before serving in the Department of Defense, Hamre worked for 10 years as a professional staff member of the Senate Armed Services Committee. During this time, he was primarily responsible for the oversight and evaluation of procurement, research, and development programs, defense budget issues and relations with the Senate Appropriations Committee.

From 1978 to 1984, Hamre served in the Congressional Budget Office, where he became deputy assistant director for national security and international affairs. In that position, he oversaw analysis and other support for committees in both the House of Representatives and the Senate.

Hamre received his Ph.D., with distinction, in 1978 from the Johns Hopkins University School of Advanced International Studies. His studies focused on international politics and economics and U.S. foreign policy. In 1972, he received a B.A., with high distinction, from Augustana College, Sioux Falls, S.D., emphasizing political science and economics. The following year, he studied as a Rockefeller Fellow at the Harvard Divinity School.
