

SAIC Appoints Grumski and Wagoner to Key Positions

May 14, 2008

Senior Executives Named Business Unit General Managers

SAN DIEGO and MCLEAN, Va., May 14, 2008 /PRNewswire-FirstCall via COMTEX News Network/ -- Science Applications International Corporation (NYSE: SAI) announced today that J.T. Grumski and Doug Wagoner have been appointed as business unit general managers.

Grumski will lead SAIC's Energy, Environment and Infrastructure Business Unit (E2IBU), effective June 16. The E2IBU provides environmental, energy, infrastructure and engineering services to the Departments of Defense and Energy, the Environmental Protection Agency and other federal government and commercial clients.

Grumski currently serves as president of SAIC's wholly-owned subsidiary, The Benham Companies LLC, and will retain this position in his new role. He joined SAIC in 1997 and will report to Joe Craver, president of SAIC's Infrastructure, Logistics and Product Solutions Group.

"J.T. has been a key contributor to the strategy, development and growth of this business unit and will be supported by an excellent management team," said Craver.

Wagoner will lead SAIC's Enterprise Solutions Business Unit (ESBU), effective immediately. ESBU delivers technology and business solutions to customers across a diverse client base, including the Department of Homeland Security, the Department of the Treasury and NASA. He has served as the deputy business unit general manager since joining SAIC in 2007. Wagoner previously held chief operating officer and senior executive positions at Data Systems Analysts, ChoicePoint and EDS. He will report to Charles Koontz, president of SAIC's Information Technology and Network Solutions Group.

"Doug is an active and well respected member of the government technology community," said Koontz. "He has an outstanding track record of managing organizations, and I anticipate he will deliver exceptional service to our customers and leadership to our employees."
